Since opening its doors in January 2018, The Hackett Center for Mental Health has started to make a difference. As one of the key leaders defining and redefining mental health care, we believe it's important to bring you current on our progress and let you know what's on the horizon.

Dedicated to the unique needs of Greater Houston and the Texas Gulf Coast, The Hackett Center for Mental Health is the first regional center of the Meadows Mental Health Policy Institute. Leveraging the participation of exceptionally skilled researchers, community leaders and health care providers, The Hackett Center's purpose is to transform systems and influence policy through unprecedented collaboration.

We hope you can join us for breakfast on October 23, 2018.

Sincerely,

Maureen Hackett
Co-Founder
The Hackett Center for Mental Health

Andy Keller, PhD
